Borough Plans Ordinance To Create Hospital Zone

In return for a special Hospital Zone where the Medical Center could build as it chooses — almost — the hospital has agreed to abandon its right to construct a ten-story "J" wing. Instead, the hospital will go no higher than seven stories. The wing is now five stories high.

Also, the hospital has agreed that, apart from the "J" wing, it will limit building heights to five stories.

The new Hospital Zone is blocked out in an ordinance which Borough Council will discuss this Thursday (8 p.m., Borough Hall) in work session, before deciding to introduce it in its present form. So far, there is no Hospital Zone ordinance for the much smaller portion of land that lies in the Township.

If the ordinance is passed, the hospital would still have to observe setback requirements at the sides of buildings, and in addition, would have to meet floor-area-ratio (FAR) requirements.

No Talk, No Weapon, But Thief Gets $233

The Somerset Farms Store, 55 State Road, was robbed of $233 Thursday night by a thief who never spoke.

Police said the suspect entered the store at 9:45, removed a bottle of soda from the soda case and went to the cash register. When the clerk told him the amount he owed, the suspect, police said, motioned that he was a deaf mute and requested paper and pencil.

He wrote a note demanding money. Police said the clerk handed over $233 to the suspect, who never spoke and left the store walking south on Route 206. No weapon was observed, police said.

Township police, aided by Borough patrolmen, searched the area without success. The suspect is described as a white male, 20 to 23, 150 pounds, about 5-8, with blonde hair and a reddish moustache. He was wearing a light brown T-shirt and blue jeans.

Earlier the same evening, police said that they had received a report that a Somerset store in East Windsor had been robbed by a suspect whose description was about the same as the one who robbed the State Road store.

I-95 ALIVE

In Hillsborough Township, The Cry Is "Yes" for I-95

I-95 — the words are like an icy breath in the Hopewell Valley; in Hillsborough, they are the bright sun of the future.

In fact, Hillsborough feels so strongly about I-95 that residents are paying a public relations expert who has come up with "I-95 Alive" banners. One of them is stretched across Route 206 in Hillsborough, like a big, weaving bumper sticker (see photo).

For over 16 years, an extension of Interstate 95 north and west of Princeton has been debated and argued. And it was scheduled to be argued again, at a meeting this Tuesday in Montgomery Township to be attended by municipal officials of concerned communities. Mayors Robert W. Cawley and Winthrop S. Pike of Borough and Township, said they planned to attend.

The meeting is one of a continuing series, held by Policy Advisory and Technical Advisory committees of towns concerned by I-95. Neither mayor knew what the precise agenda would be.

Both Princetons oppose I-95. So does Montgomery, so does Hopewell — vehemently.

But Hillsborough, Somerset County, Franklin Township, Lawrence and West Windsor Townships favor it, for different reasons. Some, like Lawrence, think it would relieve traffic. Others, like Hillsborough, see it as a high road for new rateables and jobs.

PCH Housing Is Approved for Elm Road Site; Appeal May Be Forthcoming from Opponents

After a five-hour hearing Thursday night, the Borough Zoning Board approved the use variance request of Princeton Community Housing for the 101 apartment units it wants to build off Elm Road. The vote was 6-1, Norman A. Schuele III voting "no."

Four days later, Mr. Schuele submitted his resignation from the Zoning Board (see "Mailbox," page 14). He told chairman John McGoldrick that, although he respected the opinions of others, "I feel the vote...was a complete and willful compromise as to the interpretation of the application before the Board...I can no longer identify with the 'responsibility' charged to this Board."

Opponents of the project, whose counsel is Gordon Strauss, have not yet decided whether to appeal, Mr. Strauss said this week. They have ten days from the date of publication of the Zoning Board's decision.

Board secretary Frank Slimak said it was possible that the Board may adopt a resolution at this Thursday's meeting, providing for the publication of the decision. If the Board does not adopt the resolution this Thursday, it would do so at its October 28 meeting, Mr. Slimak said.

CBS cameramen and reporters were present for the entire hearing. Using interviews taped earlier in the week, background shots of the community and excerpts from the hearing itself, the network spent about five minutes of its 7 p.m. evening news on Friday, describing the controversy, its background and outcome to date.

PCH attorney Christopher Baker made a 90-minute presentation with half a dozen witnesses; Mr. Strauss presented only his chief client, William Barr, 127 Westerly Road, who is a neighbor of the proposed project, and Elizabeth McKenzie, a planner.

Jeremiah Ford, architect for PCH, described a two-story building with one-bedroom and efficiency apartments, built entirely in the Borough portion of the Borough-owned sewer field, and built right on the Borough line. He showed parking next to the project entrance at the present bike path-trolley line.

Lucy James, on-site manager for PCH's other project, Princeton Community Village, told the Board PCH had the names of 235 who were interested in the project. She explained that Federal Section 8 housing income limits would mean a maximum income of $15,250 for a single person in the project and $17,400 for a couple. HUD may require lower income, she said, which would mean $10,250 for a single person, $11,700 for a couple.

"I would expect that most tenants would have considerably less than the maximum," she said, adding that the average income of elderly tenants at PCV is $6,582.

Priority would be given to people who live or work in Princeton, or who had had to leave the community for economic and housing reasons, she said.

Mr. Barr told the Board he had surveyed 160 homes and found six that favored the project. He opposed it, he said, because it did not conform to either the Master Plan or the Borough's R-1 residential zone, in which it lies.

He told the Board that the Princeton Shopping Center was willing to sell three or four acres to PCH. (Harriet Bryan, PCH president, said later that the Shopping Center was interested only in a lease that was beyond PCH's financial capabilities).

Repeatedly, other sites were mentioned. Mrs. Bryan said at one point that, over 15 years, PCH had investigated about 100. The Board finally decided that other sites were not germane to this application.

Mr. Barr also quoted a doctor, Dr. Henry Dudnick of "Merwick" who said it was "unconscionable" to put elderly people at the bottom of a steep hill like Elm.

The question of PCH's $3.7 million HUD grant was raised by Mr. Barr, who said it had been lost when the referendum for the Spring Street site was defeated last spring. (Mrs. Bryan and PCH say that HUD denied an extension of a September 30 deadline, not realizing that PCH had a new site. HUD then invited PCH to appeal their decision, she said, and PCH has now done so and is waiting for an answer.)

Ms. McKenzie told the Board that the site did not meet "locational criteria," but she conceded the need for senior citizen housing in the community.

Hospital Zone

The ordinance stipulates that only 60 percent of the two-acre zone can be covered. The Center is in the block bounded by the east side of Witherspoon, Franklin, Henry and Harris and the ordinance concerns the part of that block that lies in the Borough, which means most of it.

There are one or two privately-owned houses in the Borough on Harris Road which are in the zone, and which the Center could still buy. The rear of the parking garage and that part of Harris Road to Witherspoon, are in the Township and would presumably be included in the Township's Hospital Zone.

The Borough's ordinance has "permitted accessory uses," like places for doctors or nurses to live, places for out-patient treatment, training facilities, laboratories, offices for management and medical staff and the like.

So far as parking is concerned, the hospital is limited to what's there now. The garage has 80 spaces beyond the Borough's requirements. Parking, in short, may not be expanded.

Route I-95

When Brendan Byrne was Governor, he asked Federal highway authorities to "designate" I-95 so that the $231 million assigned to it, could be detoured to other state road projects. The Princetons strongly supported this request, and planned to push for diversion of the money toward the 92-A bypass around Princeton — a project even older than the extension of I-95.

Governor Thomas Kean agrees that I-95 money could be better used for other road work. But the Federal Highway Administration has stated that it will not release money for other projects unless New Jersey builds I-95. Federal Transportation Secretary Dean Lewis has apparently not yet decided whether to over-rule the FHWA and release the money; at least, he has not announced a decision.

Incidentally, some northern municipalities that now favor I-95, were once opposed to it. Some of today's opponents question whether Federal deadlines for environmental impact studies, financing and engineering design work could be met.

William Cherry, Township Committee member who has been involved with I-95 for some years, points out that a set of very precise legal steps must be followed after designation, or the $231 million could be lost. He has suggested that state officials are not aware of this hazard.

Mayor Pike points to the condition of Route One and Route 206, as well as the need for 92-A, and says the Township thinks I-95 money could be better spent in other ways.

ARE YOU 'ILLEGAL'?

Over 100 May Be. "Illegal apartment" has a furtive, back-stairs kind of sound. What the Borough really means by the term, is that the lovely, sunny, spacious apartment you rent from a lovely, sunny landlord is really in violation of the Borough's zoning ordinance.

Council member Robert McChesney thinks there may be over 100 of these rented rooms or apartments that are in violation, and he has some ideas to discuss with Council at its work session this Thursday (8, Borough Hall).

When Borough officials talk about an "illegal" apartment, they mean one in a building which does not have enough parking area, or a building whose lot is too small for an additional "dwelling unit." In this context, it has nothing to do with violations of fire, building or sanitary codes.

Mr. McChesney is in favor of some kind of relief, chiefly because he wants to make sure that tenants, innocently in an illegal apartment, don't have to get out.

"And all of us on Council are concerned about not reducing the number of dwelling units," he emphasizes.

The first thing would be to admit that these apartments exist, and tell the public that the Borough wants to set things right with the least possible disruption.

Owners of these apartments would be encouraged to apply to the Zoning Board for approval. Perhaps the application fee could be waived, as an inducement. Council could even write the Zoning Board, telling them it's advisable to grant approval to such apartments already in existence, provided there is no health or safety hazard.

Parking requirements could be waived — and Council, again, might urge the Zoning Board to do this — if adequate parking isn't being provided, or cannot be provided.

Owners of small properties might even be given staff help in preparing their applications to the board. There could be a one-year time limit for landlords who suspect they may have a problem, because Mr. McChesney is convinced that many landlords are simply ignorant of the Borough's requirements, or may have misunderstood them.

"It's not a thing anybody may have done willfully," he remarked.

Then, after the grace period had expired, the Borough should "strictly enforce" existing zoning regulations.

If a landlord doesn't comp-

'We Want State Aid!'

A rally in support of full funding for public schools will be held next Wednesday, September 29 at 8 p.m. in Lawrence High School, Lawrenceville. It will be a "mass rally," according to Princeton school officials, and the public is invited.

New Jersey legislators representing Mercer County will be invited to attend, and to talk about public school funding. Princeton lost a total of $569,000 as a result of state cuts.

Sponsor of the rally is the New Jersey Coalition for Public Education, which consists of the New Jersey School Boards Association, the New Jersey Education Association, the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the state associations of principals, supervisors, school business officials and administrators.

ly, does the Borough have the authority to, so to speak, padlock the apartment? The area is a grey one, Mr. McChesney concedes.

"But since it's a serious problem, Council must act: we can't foist it off on an inspector. Council does have the power to 'grandfather' a long-existing violation, to provide a period of grace and to make direct appeals to the Zoning Board."

Mr. McChesney does admit that giving some kind of relief makes a "mockery" of the Land Use ordinance. Also, it could be a precedent for violations in other areas.

"It's like the Public

Township Clean-Up Week Coming Up

Fall clean-up in the Township for the pick-up of household items and brush will begin on Monday, October 4, and continue through Thursday, October 14. Brush and discarded household items will be collected according to election districts. The collection schedule is as follows:

District 1, 4, 14	October 4
District 5, 6, 10	October 6
District 3, 9, 12	October 8
District 2 & 11	October 12
District 7, 8, 13	October 14

Materials to be picked up must be placed at curb-side — not in the street — by 8 a.m. on the specified date. Brush, debris and grass clippings must be placed in closed and sealed containers, cartons or plastic bags. Paper bags or other fragile containers must not be used.

Tree branches and twigs are to be tied securely in bundles no longer than 12 inches in diameter with rope or twine — not wire. Large branches should be neatly stacked in four-foot or shorter lengths. Township Engineer Walter L. Wheeler warns that these instructions must be followed, because materials not placed or packed according to these instructions will not be picked up. Leaf clean-up will begin throughout the Township on October 18.

For further information call the Engineering Department at 921-7077.

Library's giving amnesty on overdue books," he says. "We don't have the manpower to enforce the zoning ordinances fully. And I don't think we want to face having to pay thousands of dollars to relocate tenants. That would be the inevitable consequence of closing down the illegal apartments."

SMOKE DETECTORS

Required? Private homes and apartments would be required to install smoke detectors, if Borough and Township governing bodies decide on an ordinance.

Several New Jersey municipalities, including Trenton and Edison, have such a requirement. Princeton's Fire Commission, with representatives from both municipalities, has made no recommendations so far, but is studying the question.

The Commission's chief interest, according to Borough Fire Commissioner Richard Woodbridge, is in cheaper, lighter equipment that is easier to move — a mini-pumper. Mr. Woodbridge says they are one-third the cost of a conventional truck, costing from $30,000 to $40,000, compared to the $120,000 recently paid for the newest truck. They can also be handled by two fire-fighters, instead of the usual three.

The Commission feels mini-pumpers would be particularly valuable in the kinds of buildings planned by Collins Development for Palmer Square, chiefly the parking garages.

But they are also important in rough fields, where heavy equipment can have heavy going, and Township Mayor Winthrop Pike has asked whether the Borough can advance its purchase of a mini-pumper from 1984 to 1983.

An expanded budget for training fire-fighters is essential, the Commission feels. This year, the budget has been $500. The Commission hopes the Borough will double it to $1,000. Mr. Woodbridge thinks more professional training could mean a higher fire insurance rating and lower fire insurance rates.

Borough Council will be asked to consider a new way of selecting the fire chief. Under the new proposal, there would be three assistant chiefs — one from each volunteer fire company. The overall chief would be elected without regard to the company he belongs to, for a term of one year; however, he could be re-elected annually for a total of five years.

At present, there is a chief with two assistants, each of the three from one of the companies. The chief serves for only one year. The job rotates among the companies, and assistants move up the ladder until they eventually become chief.

The next thing to decide, is when to start the new system, assuming Borough Council adopts it. The name of the 1983 chief is already known, under the old system. As Mayor Robert W. Cawley pointed out, "what about the guys already in line?"

A report is due in about six weeks from a fire department sub-committee under Peter Hodge.

J.B. Smith, one of the two Township members of the Joint Sewer Operating Committee (SOC) will come before Committee with Sanitary Engineer George Olexa Jr. to describe what the problems are and what has been accomplished so far to repair and replace old sewer lines in both the Borough and the Township. Richard Schoch is the other Township member of the Borough - Township - University committee that oversees the operation of the sewer system, transfer station and landfill for the entire Princeton community.

In response to Township residents' complaints against overflowing sewage in the Harry's Brook area, the SOC has requested funds to make a study of the entire Harry's Brook watershed. This request will also be discussed during the work session, along with setting priorities for sewer line repair.

Before the work session, Committee will hold public hearings on appropriations measures for road repairs to the Snowden Lane-Overbrook intersection and to Crooked Tree Lane and Woods Way cul-d-sacs. Another item is the introduction of an ordinance extending Princeton Seminary's 5,000 gallon sewer capacity allotment in the Montgomery - Rocky Hill - Princeton system for three years.

HOME IS LOOTED

On Witherspoon Street. A Witherspoon Street home was entered between 5:30 and 11:30 Saturday evening and looted of articles valued at approximately $4,000.

Taken, police said, were a stereo from the dining room and a television set, assorted jewelry and cash from a bedroom. The thief first forced open a basement door to enter the home and then pried open a first-floor door to gain access to the interior of the house.

Between Saturday afternoon and 12:07 Sunday morning, someone pried open a sliding glass door of a Leabrook Lane home and left with approximately $1,100 worth of assorted jewelry, after slightly ransacking a master bedroom.

During the weekend, the Riverside School was entered - possibly through an unlocked door, police said -- and the main office was ransacked.

Approximately $200 was taken from a safe. Although there were no signs of forced entry, school authorities insist the safe had been locked, police reported.

Borough police listed three separate entries last week into an apartment building on Dickinson Street.

Between midnight and 5 Saturday morning, a $300 Nikon camera was stolen from an apartment by an intruder who entered an open window; between 3:30 Friday afternoon and the following morning, someone entered another apartment by way of a rear window and took $20 from a desk drawer, and between 10:30 the same evening and Saturday morning, a third apartment yielded a $300 gold necklace and $70 cash.

Last Wednesday evening, while the occupants of a Lincoln Court apartment were in the basement of the building, someone entered their living room and took a purse valued at $80 and a wallet valued at $20.

Ptl. William Nathan searched the area and found the wallet in an alley on Spring Street. Police report that it had contained no money.

In the midst of the raging financial storm,

the bulldog's got you covered!

Yes, times are tough, but at First Jersey it's business as usual! So if you're looking for an investment opportunity with real bite, one that will hold on through rough economic conditions, don't look to the money market. Money market funds won't insure your investment against loss; what's more, few, if any, are government backed!

Dollar Bull, on the other hand, guards your investment in three ways! First, your deposits are insured to $100,000 per account by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. Secondly, 90% of First Jersey's mortgage portfolio consists of government-backed, government-guaranteed FHA/VA mortgages and Government National Mortgage Association loans. Finally, for added protection, our reserves exceed the legal requirements set by the Federal Government!

Simply, that means your savings at First Jersey are safe investments in every sense of the word... fully protected and guaranteed!

BULLDOG CHECKING

If you're looking into interest-bearing checking accounts, look into First Jersey's 5 1/4% Bulldog Checking; it's better because it requires only a $100 minimum balance to earn high interest, and maintaining that very same $100 avoids any service charges!

Don't let money market funds cloud the issues; find real financial protection with Dollar Bull and First Jersey Savings!

HIGHEST RATES, CASH GIFTS

Also remember First Jersey when you're looking for the highest rates permitted by law. We've always paid the highest... and we always will! And there's even more: deposit $5,000 or more to a First Jersey savings account and we'll give you $20.00 cash; deposit $1,000 to $4,999 and you'll get $10.00 cash!

Police said that his clothing bore traces of red dye. He was charged with bank robbery and possession of a weapon.

According to police, King entered the Broad Street National Bank branch at the intersection of Route 31 and Titus Mill Road outside Pennington at 5:29 when there were no customers inside. Police said King then brandished a gun, ordered the employees to lie on the floor and demanded money.

When King ordered a teller to fill a brown paper bag with money, she slipped in the dye canister along with $700 in cash.

Leaving his pistol behind,

King fled from the bank and was running along a row of hedges behind the bank when the canister exploded. Startled by the blast, King, police later reported, dropped the money bag and ran to his car parked across the street. A neighbor saw him fleeing and called police.

King was apprehended without incident about 15 minutes later as he was driving on Burd Road, by Pt. Elwood Benner of the Hopewell Township police. State police from nearby Hopewell barracks and FBI agents from the Trenton office assisted in the investigation.

8 HUBCAPS STOLEN

Replacement Cost: $728. A measure of how prices have escalated can be found in the replacement cost of hubcaps.

Four chrome spoke wheel covers valued at $100 each were stolen during the night from the car of a Jefferson Road resident last week while it was parked in his driveway. A Montgomery Township resident was out $328.65 when all four hubcaps were removed from his 1978 car while it was parked last week on Linden Lane.

Less fortunate is a Witherspoon Street resident. He told police that his 1981 Mustang, valued at $9,000, was stolen from his driveway sometime Sunday evening and 10 Monday morning.

A Princeton University student listed the theft of a New York license plate from his 1978 Honda, parked last week in a lot at 45 Prospect Avenue.

Borough police reported three more thefts from parked cars. Three gold chains, hanging from a rear view mirror and valued at $160, were stolen from a student's car parked Sunday in a lot at the Westminster Choir College. The car was forced open.

Two gasoline credit cards were stolen the same day from a car parked in a Cameron Court drive, and the locked car of a Montgomery Township resident was forced open while it was parked between 9 Saturday morning and 2 Sunday morning on Prospect Avenue. Taken were a wristwatch, the owner's insurance card and registration and a wallet which, police said, was empty.

In other thefts, a $500 camel plain coat was shoplifted from a woman's apparel shop on Palmer Square, $40 was removed Monday afternoon from a cash register in a Westminster Choir College pub, two bottles of vodka ($25.38) were snatched from a display counter by a thief who had stopped in a Nassau Street liquor store to ask for a pack of matches, an Oriental rug was stolen between 3 and 6:20 Friday afternoon from a Mercer Road home.

Police report that the 4 by 6-foot rug, valued at $1,500, was taken by someone who may have entered the home by way of an unlocked kitchen door. Nothing else was taken.

$65 Taken from Purse. A Yardley, Pa. resident, left her purse in the shoe department at Epstein's in the Princeton Shopping Center. Returning 45 minutes later, she discovered that $65 had been removed from the purse.

An employee at the Acme Market in the Princeton Shopping Center, left his wallet over the sunvisor of his car parked in the center's lot. When he returned some five hours later, he discovered someone had managed to unlock his locked car door and remove the wallet. Police said that there was no money inside.

A Princeton resident visiting the Colonial Club, 40 Prospect Avenue, had to walk home Saturday night after someone stole his $700 moped. It had been locked and chained to a pole behind the club.

There were five bicycle thefts last week -- actually, one was just a rear wheel -- two of which resulted in apprehensions.

An unlocked, 10-speed model was removed Saturday from the front porch of a Linden Lane home, and another, also unlocked was taken overnight from a front lawn of an Aiken Avenue. It was valued at $75.

The missing rear wheel, valued at $71, is owned by a Bank Street resident. She told police that she had parked and locked her bike to a Bank Street sign post Friday morning and the wheel was missing a half-hour later.

Police report that a black male, 25, 5-8, with a moustache and wearing glasses was seen walking away with the wheel in his hand.

Twenty-five year old Scott Danbury of 39 Leigh Avenue, has been charged by police with stealing a $300 bicycle from an unlocked garage on Nassau Street.

He was seen operating the bike the next day, after it was reported stolen by Sgt. Ronald Holliday and Pt. Donald Dawson who arrested him and charged him with burglary and theft. He was released after being issued a complaint summons.

OneLook Too Many. As Ptl. William Nathan was leaving headquarters on car patrol at 10:40 Friday night, he noticed a youth riding a bicycle on the sidewalk. When the youth kept looking back at the officer, Ptl. Nathan decided to check things out.

An investigation revealed that the $200 bicycle had been stolen at 10:15 the same evening from in front of Firestone Library on the university campus. Police said that the suspect, a 16-year old Trenton resident, will be turned over to the juvenile office for processing.

BROOKLYN GIRL CITED

In Theft of Beer. An 18-year old Brooklyn resident, Marisa Gallo, has been charged with the theft of beer, following her arrest Sunday at the Tiger Inn, 48 Prospect Avenue.

Police report that Ms. Gallo and two Princeton youths, 16 and 17, were observed by club members drinking beer and playing pool. When the three were asked to leave, they refused.

Police were called to the club at 5:11 p.m. The juveniles were to be charged with theft, trespassing and drinking alcoholic beverages.

At 2 Sunday morning, a 15-year old Princeton youth was apprehended at the Colonial Club while in possession of a stolen pocketbook.

A member of the club, police said, observed the youth outside the club with the pocketbook in his possession. He held him in custody until police arrived.

Police report that the pocketbook is owned by a Trenton State College student and was taken while it had been left unattended in the club. It contained $6.

PLAYGROUND PLANNED For PCV Residents. Township Committee has agreed to a request from Princeton Community Housing to build a tennis backstop and pave a playground area in the Kleinberg tract across Bunn Drive from Princeton Community Village.

PCH plans to raise funds on its own for the backstop and blacktop as a much needed recreation area for PCV residents. Although the tract is owned by the Township as part of its open space lands, PCH has agreed to maintain it as a playground and to provide adequate insurance coverage.

with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

DID YOU KNOW THAT-

- Evergreens shed their three year old needles? Those are on the part of the branch nearest the trunk. Any other shedding toward the tip of the branch may indicate root injury or a severe infestation of mites.
- Mulches help conserve soil moisture and aid in preventing root kill by winter cold and root cooking during periods of summer heat and drought.
- Carpenter ants do not eat wood; they chew tunnels in the wood in which they live, beginning under the bark or in wounds caused by everything from Woodpecker to lawn mowers. They are always found in the heart wood — the backbone support of the tree.
- To help protect your trees and shrubs from deer that are nibbling away at your shrubs and trees consider this recipe — blend 2 garlic cloves, 3 hot peppers, 1 1/2 cups of water in a blender and let it sit overnight. Then, add soap and 7 cups of water to the strained solution. Spray this on your plants before temperatures drop below freezing. Hope this will keep the deer from destroying your valued shrubs. For any concerns about your property, call WOODWINDS (924-3500), we'll be happy to help!

P.S. KEEP an eye out for WOOLLY APHIDS!!! These pests attack evergreens and give an appearance of white wool on the branches. The best and most effective treatment for WOOLLY APHID is a combination spray using Sevin, Diazinon and spreader sticker material to keep the chemicals on the needle surface.

Lane in another location after that private elementary school closed in June. Plans to hold the Bayard School in two classroom trailers on the grounds of the American Baychoir School on Lambert Drive collapsed over the summer as the numbers in the nucleus dwindled below the point of making such a venture financially feasible.

But parents of seven four-year olds and four kindergarteners have persisted, and just last week they succeeded in obtaining permission from the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, Nassau Street and Cedar Lane, to use its big sunny basement as a schoolroom with dividers. The space had once been the home of a nursery school.

Nancy Rohins, who had been involved periodically in Miss Mason's School since 1966 as a parent, teacher and office assistant, is directing the new school. The two teachers, both of whom are from Miss Mason's, are Cathy Gyrofi and Anne Brown. Equipment and materials are from the original school.

"We are down to the essence of what was Miss Mason's School," Mrs. Rohins said this week. "And it is probably a good place to start." Founded by Miss Mary Mason after World War II as a school for three and four-year olds, Miss Mason's School gradually expanded by adding a grade at a time until it offered classes for three-year olds through third grade.

Miss Mason announced last December that she would close the school after 30 years on Bayard Lane in order to devote more time to the Mason Education Foundation through which her curriculum methods in math and composition are being marketed for use in both public and private schools around the country.

DRUNK DRIVER FINED
In Borough Court, Josef A. Borg, 249 Ewing Street, was fined $265 and had his license revoked for six months in Borough traffic court Monday for drunken driving. In addition, Judge Russell W.

Annich Jr. fined him $30 on a second charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

Fined $20 each for overdue inspection violations were Martha H. Vaughn, 45 Arrenton Road; Lynn Maher, 101 Red Hill Road, ($40 for two separate charges); John F. Hoff II, 27 Constitution Drive; and Sally M. Collins, 1515 Fox Run Drive, Plainsboro.

Fined for failure to make inspection repairs were Richard Landauer, 50 Aiken Avenue, $15, and Geoffrey J. Gettelfinger, 160 Bertrand Drive, $20.

A stop sign violation cost Marianne Weissenburger, North Mill Road, Cranbury, $40; Richard B. McLaughlin, 35 Hillside Road, paid $60 and lost his license for six months for no insurance, and for having no name or address on a commercial vehicle, Princeton Building Maintenance, 13 Lower Harrison Street, was fined $25.

Township Court. In Township court last week, Glen Spellman, 62 Bainbridge Street, was fined $215 for reckless driving. He was also ordered to pay $10 for failure to appear for an earlier court date.

On a criminal charge, Anthony K. Bailey, RD4, Princeton, was fined $100 each on two charges of passing worthless checks at the Acme Market in the Princeton Shopping Center. Judge Sydney Souter also added a 30-day suspended sentence to the Mercer County Correction Center on the combined charges.

YWCA PROGRAM STARTS

For Divorcing Women. The YWCA offers a program called "On Your Own," led by Barbara K. Pollinger, for women going through the process of separation and divorce. The "On Your Own" groups which run from 8-10 weeks each are designed to help participants understand themselves in the context of separation and divorce and assist them in reorienting to a different lifestyle. Ms. Pollinger sees the group as a place to assist the women going through these changes to begin to deal with their losses as well as an opportunity to begin a healthy resolution of the crisis.

Ms. Pollinger is a certified clinical mental health counselor with a private practice in Princeton and Lakewood. She specializes in the problems of women, particularly women going through separation and divorce, and sees these women in her private practice. She is currently a Ph.D. candidate in Human Development at the Fielding Institute.

The "On Your Own" group will be starting again at the YWCA on this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. For further information, contact Liz Adams at 924-5571.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have sent to John L. McGoldrick, Chairman, Zoning Board of Adjustment.

After careful thought I have decided to resign from the Zoning Board of Adjustment for the Borough of Princeton.

Although I respect other "people's opinions," I feel the vote rendered at last Thursday's special meeting was a complete and willful compromise as to the interpretation of the application before the Board.

As a result of the action taken, I can no longer identify with the "responsibility" charged to this Board.

NORMAN A. SCHUELE III
Palmer SquareLibrary Parking Lot.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I suggest that it is premature to get too enthusiastic about converting the public library parking lot to a Park and Shop lot. This parking facility is very important to a large number of library users. Until acceptable provision is made for them, the proposal should not be adopted.

Now for as little as a nickel one can park for a few minutes to return a book or even check some out. Will we have to pay fifty cents or even a dollar in the future to do this? Presumably if we patronize a neighborhood store, we would get free parking.

Will parking be free if we take out a library book? What if we just go in to browse or read? Everyone visiting the library is not doing long term research or attending a program. But if free parking were given to anyone just visiting the library, how could the lot operators expect to collect any fees?

Reserving a few spaces for library users is bound to be inadequate and unenforceable. Maybe there is not good answer and maybe changing the lot is not such a good idea.

When the library site was originally under consideration, the present location was chosen to be convenient to residents living near the center of town. It was also understood that the establishment of convenient parking would assure that the more remote residents would not be discriminated against. It is important that this assurance not be negated -- or made unattractively expensive.

JEROME KURSHAN
73 Random RoadPara-medics Praised.

To the Editor of town topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have sent to Mayor Robert Cawley and Members of Borough Council.

As a recent witness, not in this case the patient, to the skill and equipment of the Para-medics -- it was sadening to realize that the Borough refuses to give them support, whereas the Township is of the other opinion. Join them!

I believe that we who know the Resque Squad have given them our help voluntarily. But these young Para-medics must receive adequate compensation because of their additional training.

I, also am of the opinion that the hordes of new residents in Princeton have not been made aware of these services or their need for support -- free to us all.

Please think where would you turn in a crisis?

VIRGINIA C. WILLIAMS
77 Cleveland Lane

(Editor's note: The full annual cost of the paramedics is $40,582, which includes their salaries and fringe benefits. Borough and Township divide this cost according to the standard rateables formula used in financing many joint Borough-Township agencies. The Borough pays $14,609.52, or 36 percent under the rateables formula. The Township pays 64 percent.)

IT'S NEW To Us

SURPRISES AT COX'S

Under New Owner. Since the early 1900's, Princeton residents have been flocking to Cox's store at 182 St. in search of the latest news. Whether your need be daily or Sunday newspapers, the racing form, a foreign paper such as El Progreso, a literary quarterly, or any one of the weekly magazines, there is a huge selection from which to choose. But the latest news in town is not not necessarily in print! Cox's has increasingly become a hub of activity and social exchange at all times of the day, a gathering place where people in the area come to chat and select delectable foodstuffs as well as buy newspapers. Every morning from 6:30 a.m. a swift-moving cue forms for freshly-brewed coffee and one of the shop's delicious bagels, croissants, or sweet rolls brought in every day.

Sumptuous sandwiches and salads brings another crowd in around noon and in the evening, when the store stays open until seven. There is a fine assortment of catered foods for the shopper's convenience as well as cheeses, fresh breads, and hors d'oeuvres.

There is nothing accidental about Cox's newly found success. While its old-fashioned atmosphere is reminiscent of earlier days when the town's pace was considerably slower, its new owner, Thomas Root, has a good knowledge of 1980's marketing techniques. As co-owner of Princeton Caterers, Mr. Root has combined his talents in sales and food business since February when he took over the store. He also fulfilled a dream cherished since his boyhood in Princeton.

Childhood Dream. "I just loved this store and I would always tell Bobby Cox's father that someday I would like to own it, I used to come in here after church and buy a paper and perhaps some candy like the kids do today. It's not everyone who gets so lucky," says Mr. Root with enthusiasm. It is this very positive spirit which permeates the store and makes it such a pleasant place to be. Mr. Root is constantly interrupted by his customers who wish him well and remark "the place looks terrific."

INNOVATION AT COX'S: There is always something new at Cox's since Mr. Thomas Root and his family have taken over the shop, which not only features a wide assortment of newspaper, periodicals and magazines but tempting baked goods and luncheon dishes prepared by Princeton Caterers. Mr. Root is seen here with quality produce for which he shops daily.

Despite his busy schedule, there is always time for him to ask about a friend, a relative who is ill, or perhaps about a child's wedding. Mr. Root is something of an authority on children, having ten of his own, several of whom help out at the store. It is most definitely a family business.

Since the family bought Cox's, several eye-catching touches have been added to lure its customers. One faithful patron was recently heard complaining that "he used to come in a buy a paper for $3.30 and now he cannot get out of there for under $7!"

It is difficult for anyone to pass by without picking up a box of choice fresh berries or one of the many top grade harvest vegetables on display in baskets outside on the sidewalk. Mr. Root spends a few hours each morning shopping at farms where the best selections are saved for him. The fruits and vegetables are excellent. Apple cider, honey and peanuts (250 lbs. roasted each week) are big favorites.

A welcoming sight, also outside are the colorful bunches of fresh fall flowers attractively arranged so that they can be bought and put on the table directly. Arrangements of flowers which will dry and endure all winter come in combinations of deep fuchsias and purples. The flowers are priced most reasonable and customers are welcome to make their own bouquet. Just indoors are vases full of zinnias, daisies, and mums which will soon be found in the colors of the University's and its football opponents.

The romantically inclined need look no further! Mothers of young children find it hard to go past Cox's without buying one of the balloons flying in the breeze above the awning. Bright orange pumpkins and Indian corn remind us of the coming one of the many top grade harvest.

Gourmet foods: Princeton Caterers, co-owned with Mr. Root by Peter Vielbig, has seen to it that some of their best creations are brought to Cox's. Luncheon food might include: California tuna with raisins and curry on pita bread; a curried chicken salad; a nutted turkey; or perhaps marinated vegetables. They are all delicious and may be pre-ordered in quantity. The catering company has had a most successful summer of weddings, picnics and dances, as well as their continuing corporate and school accounts. Mr. Vielbig is servicing more than 25 schools in southern New Jersey alone.

Hostesses who are either too busy to cook or tired of doing so, will be delighted to know that Cox's freezer is full of wonderful quiche, tiny puffs of brie for cocktails, cheese-cakes, carrot cupcakes, individual chocolate mousses, and many other appetizing dishes. These and other main courses can be ordered at the store in advance.

Sunday is a special day when we can take a little more time with breakfast or brunch. Cox's now sells 850 Sunday newspapers. Why not stop in at the same time for a yummy sour cream coffee cake, fresh Danish, the ever-popular whole grain bread, or some frosted donuts which have become addictive to some?

There is something new in the future at Cox's. A full service delicatessen will soon be an added convenience at the shop. Top-of-the-line cold cuts, bulk salads, and a wide assortment of cheeses will be featured. When the weather turns cool, a hot gourmet soup to go will be served daily.

"This is a neat store, it has everything I need," smiled a lovely sophomore the other day. A veteran of Cox's agreed but called Mr. Root's store "more like a convention." In either case, it serves its shoppers well. The shop is open daily until 7 except Friday, when it stays open until 8.

NEW COMPUTER LINE

At Hinkson's. Keeping in step with the times, Hinkson's has some news this fall. Having supplied this area with top quality stationery items for years; students with all of the essentials for their schoolwork, and offices with all of the necessary accessories as well as furnishings; the shop is now going into the computer supply business.

"Computers have become an integral part of our lives and we just feel that it is important to service the needs of our customers," explains the shop's owner Mr. Bert Roberto, who has run the shop for twenty years. Mr. Roberto attests to the fact that there has been a remarkable increase in the use of personal computers this year. He has stocked a full line of products useful and some essential, for maximum home use.

Data systems furniture will transform your extra room or guest room into a fabulous communications center. These furnishings which can be found in Hinkson's new fall catalogue are naturally designed for office use as well. The modular work stations include: desks on wheels some with tops that tilt on turn-tables; files that roll out of sight (for guests); tables and stands for printers and a paper catcher stand; and connectors which convert a work station into 2 or 3 units. Handsome upholstered chairs which insure comfort while typing or doing computer work come in many colors.

All of the supplies necessary to computers can be found at the shop. Floppy disks, single and double-sided; print-wheels; word processing ribbons; filing and storage systems are carried. Storage is an important factor, according to Mr. Roberto. Magnetic tapes and diskettes can be filed in a variety of ways such as: the modular desk stand; binders and folders; a rotary file; or perhaps a fan file would be most suited to your needs. The shop will order whatever item is required and receive shipment within two days as a rule.

Typing Supplies. Typewriter equipment and typewriting supplies have always been a staple at Hinkson's - Witness the crowds of students who frequent the store during these first weeks of the scholastic year!

It is almost ritual for parents and children to stop in during the first weeks of school to load up on school supplies. What is more enticing than a brand new notebook, which will soon be defaced with all sorts of pen drawings and stickers? Shiny new pencils, rulers, markers, pens, and a wide assortment of materials are irresistible these days. However this year the youthful shoppers will be able to find a floppy disk at Hinkson's and will hurry home to begin a new program.

A colorful touch for the desk, lamps in various shapes and sizes, will be in great demand. One is on special for $20.95.

There are a number of family projects which many of us postpone for the lack of proper equipment. Hinkson's can help. An erase board, a chalk board, or the more specific erasable plan-it board would be an ideal way to organize family chores and useful for leaving important messages. There are numerous systems for more effective filing of personal papers, photos, school work and memorabilia. Such projects are ideal for the long winter nights.

The 1983 calendars have already arrived at Hinkson's. They make good gifts and afford planning in advance. Several small gift items can be discovered at the shop, such as bulletin boards, frames, albums, stationery to be engraved or personalized; and a terrific selection of posters. One thing that the computer will never replace is the traditional greeting card. The range from sentimental to hysterical can be found at the shop. Hours are from 9:00 to 5:30 daily.

APPLE DAY SET

At Terhune Orchards. Terhune Orchards will hold its annual Apple Day harvest festival on Saturday, October 2, from 10 to 5. Terhune Orchards is a working farm on Cold Soil Road owned by Pam and Gary Mount who raise apples, peaches and pears on its 100 acres.

In addition to a bountiful harvest of several varieties of apples and freshly pressed cider for sale, Apple Day features old farm activities to experience free. For the young these include helping to make apple cider on a 100-year old press, shelling corn with a hand crank machine, climbing on an old tractor and sprayer, jumping in a hay mound and bobbing for apples.

Hay wagons will tour the orchards all day, and for those wishing to know more about fruit growing the Mounts will lead tours at 11:30 and 2:30. The barns will be turned into show rooms by the Princeton Weavers Guild, the YWCA Artisans Guild, and Cabin Creek Quilts. Marjorie Merian of Pennington will exhibit and sell her herbs and dried flowers.

There will be an Apple Bake-Off contest for which all entries must feature apples or cider. Entries must be at the farm by noon along with a written copy of the recipe. The first prize will be $50 in the adult division and $25 in the children's.

Hot dogs, hot and cold cider, apple desserts and other items will be available for lunch. Music lovers are invited to bring their voices or instruments and join in the making of country music. A caller will be on hand to call square and country dances.

Parking this year will be in the Educational Testing Service lot with free shuttle service to the orchards.

TO GIVE AWARD

At Tennis Ball. The second annual Bayard L. Jordan award for sportsmanship will be presented at the upcoming Tennis Ball which will benefit the Youth Tennis Foundation of Princeton. The ball will be held on Saturday at the Bedens Brook Club beginning with cocktails at 6:30 followed by dinner and dancing to the sounds of the Touch Band.

Bayard Jordan was honored last year by an award given in his name for his outstanding work in the tennis community over the period of many years. The Jordan award is given to the boy or girl who has participated in the Princeton community tennis program and is selected by the Youth Tennis Foundation committee as best exemplifying the spirit of the award. Scott Roby of Princeton was last year's winner.

Reservations for the ball may be made by calling the YTF office, 924-4343.

CHILDREN INVITED

To Craft Fair. The Presbyterian Cooperative Nursery School will hold its annual Kids Craft Fair on Saturday from 9 to noon at the Nassau Presbyterian Church, 61 Nassau Street.

Children of pre-school and elementary school age may participate in a wide variety of activities, such as decorating cookies, hammering nails to make a design, making a puppet, stringing a necklace or making paper dolls. There will be also be an opportunity to be made up in a clown face.

PCH Meeting

Another opponent, Charles Cornforth, was given 20 minutes to express his views — longer than anyone at the hearing — and told the Board the Planning Board had never considered the site for high-density housing, and did not give its approval to the location. Mr. Cornforth sat on the Planning Board during formation of the Master Plan.

"What is it, with our community!" exclaimed Jacqueline Rogers, from the audience, when the floor was opened to the public. "What is it about old folks that is so objectionable!"

Board alternate Harry Clark, serving in the absence of Michael Rockland, said, "It is, ultimately, an emotional question. We had a chance to put it in the center of town, but that was turned down. I'd have preferred it there. HUD needs a positive reaction from the community, and it's due from us, as representatives of the community will."

One of the "yes" votes was from Orren Jack Turner Jr., who led the opposition to the center of town site.

SIX-MONTH LEASES

Offered by Collins. Six-month leases will be offered to stores that are now in Palmer Square. Collins officials said this week, and no stores will be asked to leave between now and June 30; however, there will be modest rent increases.

"This means they can order their spring merchandise," said Claudette Adams, of the Collins firm.

Before October 1, Collins expects to announce the names of "two or three" stores that will move in before Christmas. Vacancies are the former Clayton space on Nassau, Skirm's, Brophy's and the Music Center.

Plans still call for construction of One Palmer Square — kiosk and an extension of the steps — in October. James Harvie, Collins vice-president, said he hopes to have financing before the end of the year, so that the addition to the Nassau Inn can be started in May. Expansion of the Square, he explained, is geared to expansion of the hotel, and he expects architect's plans for the hotel in November or December.

Douglas Godine, another Collins official, will meet with individual store owners to explain the rental system under which the amount of rent is tailored to the kind of store. Not all stores are equally profitable, Mr. Godine pointed out, but this does not mean that the firm wants only high-volume stores.

Jeffrey Mershon, formerly group comptroller for FMC and a member of an old Princeton family, has joined the staff as senior financial advisor.

CONSULTANTS PROVIDED

By New Firm, Dr. Melvin A. Benarde of 45 Cuyler Road, has announced the formation of National Consulting Network, Inc., a nation-wide consortium of university faculty members and other senior scientists.

Based in Princeton, National Consulting Network, provides expert consultants to industry, government, trial lawyers, and not-for-profit institutions in the related areas of food technology-nutrition; toxicology-pharmacology; environmental sanitation, occupational health, epidemiology-public health, and health educational planning.

For the past 15 years, Dr. Benarde has been professor, then chairman of the Department of Community Medicine and Environmental Health at Hahnemann Medical College and Hospital, Philadelphia.

INTERNS NAMED

For Family Service. A new program in which post-graduate interns will work with Family Service staff has been inaugurated by the agency. The program supplements an existing internship program for students who are candidates for an advanced degree in social work.

Four were chosen from what agency staff described as a long list of applicants. Interns are Suzanne Keller, PhD, who is a professor in the sociology department at Princeton University; Lynda Martin, who holds a masters in social work from Rutgers; Sue McMann, who has the same degree and Carolyn J. Phillips, who has a masters of education in personnel and guidance from Rutgers.

BUG-OF-THE-WEEK

By J. Drew Foster,
Entomologist

HEMLOCK WOOLLY APHID

Most of you have probably put your garden sprayers away for the season, due to waning insect activity. The hemlock woolly aphid (HWA) however, keeps our equipment running until early October. This tiny sucking insect has recently become the most serious pest of hemlocks in the Princeton area, destroying their beauty and killing them if uncontrolled for a few years. Part of the severity of this pest is due to the lack of proper identification by pesticide applicators, confusing it with two other hemlock insects, resulting in the wrong sprays being applied at the wrong time.

The HWA is very small and difficult to see. However, it is easily located by its waxy secretions that form a woolly-looking tuft over each insect. The HWA feeds on the sap of hemlock twigs and branches, often in such numbers that the twigs appear snow-covered. New growth is retarded or prevented so that when the previous years' needles drop, the twig dies.

Late September to early October is the best time to control HWA. Your "one shot cure-all" spring foliar spray is not effective for this insect. Chemical sprays are necessary to save infested trees, and where hemlocks are damaged, heavy fertilization is also recommended.

The only non-chemical prevention of HWA damage appears to be in the location of landscape hemlocks. Trees should be planted in full sun and overcrowding or heavy shading of lower limbs should be avoided. Where hemlocks are planted in the shade of larger trees or maintained in thick hedges, they should be carefully checked annually for early signs of HWA and treated promptly where problems arise.

Call us for plant pest control and liquid tree feeding through soil injection.

OBITUARIES

Emmet J. Hughes, a journalist who served as a speechwriter for President Dwight D. Eisenhower and as political advisor to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, died September 18 of a heart attack at his home in Princeton. He was 61 years old.

Mr. Hughes, who wrote extensively on the United States presidency, was a professor of political science in the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University for the last 12 years. Last May he retired as a member of the board of editors of Fortune, but remained a contract writer for the magazine.

A native of Newark, Mr. Hughes graduated from Princeton University in 1941 with highest honors and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. During World War II, he was press attache in the United States Embassy at Madrid and later directed propaganda for the Office of War Information in Spain.

In 1947 he became chief of the Rome bureau of Time Inc., beginning a long off-and-on association with the publishing organization. Among his other positions were chief of the Berlin bureau, chief of foreign correspondents and articles editor for Life magazine.

In 1952, when General Eisenhower was running for President, Mr. Hughes joined the campaign team. He wrote the "I shall go to Korea" speech that was credited with sealing the Eisenhower election victory. He returned to journalism the next year, but in 1956 he rejoined the Eisenhower staff to write speeches for the second presidential campaign.

Four years later, Mr. Hughes again left Time to become a political adviser and speechwriter for Governor Rockefeller. In 1963 he became a columnist and editorial consultant for Newsweek but left journalism for politics again in 1968 to serve as chief political strategist in Governor Rockefeller's unsuccessful bid for the Republican nomination for President.

In 1970, while continuing to write extensively, he began a teaching career at Rutgers.

the profession for which he had trained at college. Among his books are "The Ordeal of Power," an account of the Eisenhower terms in office; "The Living Presidency," a study of the changing fortunes of Presidential Power, and "America the Vincible," on foreign policy.

Mr. Hughes is survived by a son, John, of Los Angeles, and four daughters, Mary Lackin and Kathleen of New York City, and Caitlin and Johanna, both of Princeton.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated this Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Aquinas Institute Chapel, 65 Stockton Street. Burial will be private. Arrangements are under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Lawrence J. Fitzgerald, 71, of Redding Circle, died September 14 at Princeton Medical Center.

Mr. Fitzgerald was born in the Bronx and lived there before moving to Princeton 40 years ago. He worked for 19 years for Consolidated Edison and for 14 years as a supervisor with the Hayden Chemical Corp. in Penns Neck, which later became American Cyanamid. He retired in 1976 after 14 years with the Boy Scouts of America.

He was a charter member of the Princeton B.P.O.E. and vice president of the Senior Citizens Club.

Surviving are his wife, Emma Rockafellow Fitzgerald; a son, Lawrence J. Fitzgerald of Winthrop, Me.; a daughter, Mary Alice Fitzgerald of Cranbury; a sister, Alice Fitzgerald of the Bronx, N.Y.; and two grandsons, Lawrence J. and Kevin J. Fitzgerald, both of Maine.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at St. Paul's Church with burial in Princeton Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Maria O. Chiaradia, 57, of 58 Carter Road, died September 17 at home after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Chiaradia was born in Trenton and was a member of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church.

She is survived by her husband, Alfonso; two daughters, Ida Maria Chiaradia of Lawrenceville and Patricia Chiaradia of Smithville; six sisters, Mildred DeGeorgia of Trenton, Sally Tiziker of Lawrenceville, Yolanda Mattioli of Hamilton Square, Jill Pulianas of Pittsburgh, Pa., Pearl Valeriani of Yardville, and Minnie Vecere of Pennington.

The service was held at the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church, the Rev. H. Dana Fearon III, pastor, officiating. Cremation followed in the Ewing Crematory.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, 88 Lakedale Drive, Lawrenceville, 08648, or to the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church Building Fund.

Community Players Marking 50th Birthday, With Same Problems, But No Loss of Spirit

In some ways, it's been more like "The Skin of Our Teeth" than "That Championship Season," but Princeton Community Players has made it through 50 golden years, count 'em, 50, and the house has never once been dark.

This is the Golden Season for the Players. There will be a party this Friday (see "Theatres"). The season will open October 22 with "The Fantasticks," a nicely chosen symbol because it has been running in New York almost half the Players' lifetime.

Of course, the phrase "the house has never once been dark" has a certain irony because the Players do not have a house. They will open their ninth and last season at 171 Broadmead and then — who knows? Princeton University, owner of the building, has told the Players they must be out by July.

There seems to be no despair. In the spring of 1977, the Players' president told Town Topics "PCP is 44 years old. At the moment, it looks doubtful that we'll reach 50."

Well, it did. In '77, money was the problem. Money is always a problem, but at least the Players had a home back then.

It's a question of storage and permanence, as well as a stage. The Players talked with the Arts Council about the auditorium in the Art People Building on Witherspoon. But PCP would have to share the stage with other groups, and there is no place to store wigs and hoops and boots and painted castles.

For a time, PCP used the John Witherspoon School auditorium, but they weren't allowed to pound in nails and they had to build all the scenery elsewhere, usually in somebody's barn. Murray Theatre was all right, but small, with the audience's knees bumping the footlights.

The Playmill on Alexander, where the Ballet Society now is, was fine. But the building was sold and PCP had to move.

For a lovely decade, from '46 to '56, PCP actually had its own building. It was "Avalon," the stately, pillared home of poet Henry Van Dyke, with lots of closets for costumes. PCP bought it from Henry's son, Tertius Van Dyke, whose wife played Shaw's St. Joan for the Players.

"Avalon" was sold to the YM-YWCA, which tore it down to build the present "Y" daughter-in-law now reviews buildings. Incidentally, PCP plays for Town Topics. The playbill itself was designed and printed by the "Avalon" and in the end, many of those buyers made a gift of their bonds to PCP.

So the group has been imaginative in meeting its needs and doubtless will be again. There was even a wild scenario in which PCP built its own theatre, somewhere in the Harrison-Terhune area. Why not? No money.

If you know anything at all about Princeton, you know that all this information comes from Herbert McAneny, who has been acting in plays in Princeton since before PCP was born, and without whom it is impossible even to imagine Princeton Community Players.

An English teacher at Princeton Country Day School — now PDS — Mr. McAneny was part of the creation. He remembers that geology professor Richard Field and his wife Fanny, sitting with guests in the kitchen of their Edgehill Street home one night in January, 1933, said — why not?

They called a meeting and about 50 came. A second, and about 75 came.

They wished "to stimulate an interest in drama by the periodic presentation of plays." They also wanted to keep McCarter Theatre going between Triangle Club musicals.

The first play, presented in May, 1934, was the mystery "Cock Robin," by Elmer Rice and Philip Barry. The program announced firmly two articles from PCP's bylaws: "No flowers shall be handed over the footlights" and "There shall be no curtain calls except for the entire group having part in any production."

In short, no stars.

In "Cock Robin," Dean Kenneth H. Condit of the Princeton University School of Engineering played a leading part. So did another geology professor named Erling Dorf. Ruth Kemmerer was in charge of make-up. She is now Mrs. Dorf.

Mr. McAneny was in the cast, of course, and so was Henry Ross, headmaster of Princeton Country Day at that time. Mrs. David McAlpin was an usher — her grand-

In those early years, Community Players drew its membership from the University faculty and from the upper social and economic levels of the town — "society." To become a member, you had to be proposed by two regular members, then elected to membership by the executive committee after you had been endorsed by the membership committee. Dues were $1 a year.

Mr. McAneny says wryly that Princeton society was always on hand to support worthy causes, but "not necessarily to hammer flats." And PCP itself did indeed support worthy causes. It was before the days of a United Way, and the group gave many benefits. Mr. McAneny estimates that the Players raised $20,000 over a 16-year period.

The first and perhaps biggest, was in 1936, when the Players gave a play about diarist Samuel Pepys, "And So To Bed," for the benefit of Princeton Hospital.

A quarter-inch-thick program, selling for 35 cents, had a photograph on each page of prominent Princeton residents buying something in a local store: four ladies at a bridge table, under the legend — "Hinkson's: Everything for the Bridge Party;" a quintet standing before the box-office of The Garden Theatre (unchanged, so far as one can tell) buying tickets for "A Midsummer Night's Dream".

A page for Edward C. Kopp, Bicycles and Antiques, shows an extremely young Edward C. Kopp III mounted on a tricycle. He is now a Princeton realtor.

Five men raising tankards in the Senior Room of the Nassau Inn: it was only three years after repeal, the customers were men because women were not allowed in that room, the waiter is black and identified only by his first name.

And three other Princeton men are photographed in the program ad for Brandy Distillers of Hamilton Township: makers of Wurfel's Fine Apple Brandy.

Mr. McAneny counts 16 benefits. Not only the hospital,

I HEAR A BLITHE SPIRIT: Anna Russell (left) as Madame Arcati, summons up somebody-or-other from the distant mists while Paul Shenar pays rapt attention and Marlon Lines raises a disbelieving eyebrow. All are in the Noel Coward comedy "Blithe Spirit," which will open McCarter Theatre's season on Friday, October 1.

'Legendary' Not Too Strong a Word for Anna Russell

Of the crowds that will flock to McCarter Theatre to attend Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" from September 29 to October 17, many will have been attracted because the legendary Anna Russell is to play the part of Madame Arcati.

"Legendary" is not too strong a word for the performer whom the London Times has called "the world's funniest woman," and whose take-offs and put-downs of classical opera and singers in general have delighted audiences around the world through her concerts and recordings.

Although she says that "solo performers generally make rotten actors," Miss Russell is happy to do both -- and make a success of both. "When you're on your own," she says, "you write your own stuff, you're apt to get very self-indulgent, you just sort of blither on. But I love to be in plays -- it's very good discipline, you've got to give the right cues, you can't paraphrase. And it's fascinating to see what different directors do with you."

Madame Arcati, the medium in Noel Coward's comedy, is a part Miss Russell has played under several different directors. Also near the top of her list of favorite roles is Lady Bracknell in Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest." "I played her at Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, only it was a musical called 'Half in Earnest.'"

It had wonderful music, very early Victorian, maiden's prayer sort of thing. We toured for five months but didn't go to New York because 'Earnest in Love' was there first. Its music was not nearly as good as ours."

Start of Career. What launched Anna Russell on her career as the prima donna of musical parody? At the Royal College of Music in London she studied voice, piano and composition. Fellow-students used to giggle when she practiced her arias. Discouraged about her singing, she spent seven years chiefly as a student coach, playing piano for other students, "bashing opera into thick heads."

"Sir Hugh Allen, the director of the college, absolutely hated me. Finally he had me on the carpet. He said, 'Every year you get sillier. If you think you're as funny as you obviously think you are, why don't you go and audition at the Palladium?'"

"At first I was crushed. I wasn't trying to be funny, I was doing my best. But then I thought, if I can make a buck out of it, why not? And I had a lot of material to draw from. I knew all the operas, their stories and practically every note."

Miss Russell's advice to young women aspiring to be opera singers is emphatic: "It doesn't matter how musical you are, or how well you know your operas, or how well you can act -- the only thing absolutely necessary is to have a glorious voice. And if you haven't got it, forget it."

"Don't count on encouragement from music teachers. All they can do is teach you to be louder and how not to get laryngitis. If you start in with a tin voice, you're never going to develop pear-shaped tones in a million years. What you're going to get is a louder tin voice."

It is now 35 years since Miss

News of the Theatres

Russell made her New York debut in Carnegie Hall. For eight of those years she lived in Australia, "where I thought I'd have a rest." There she wrote a weekly newspaper column, had a radio show, appeared in a TV sitcom series, played in "A Little Night Music" and in "Blithe Spirit," and performed as a clown in Australia's equivalent of the Ringling Brothers Circus.

Played in New Guinea. She has played in New Guinea, in Japan, in New Zealand, in South Africa as well as in Canada, England and the United States, but strangely enough only once on the European continent. "That was last April Fool's Day, at the opera house in Geneva, Switzerland. That was fun, a wonderful audience. Everybody speaks English in Switzerland, and they understand all the double-talk foreign language numbers too."

Mention of the years covered by Miss Russell's career led to an unexpected topic. "I've become an instant Senior Citizen!" she exclaimed. Her blue eyes sparkled and lines of delighted humor etched her expressive face.

"Last year, in my old home town of Unionville, north of Toronto I came in on Phase Two of the local old folks' home -- bungalows for people over 60 who still want to work. It's sponsored by the Ontario government. The apartment is exactly what I wanted -- I'm not a housekeeper, and I have my own garden."

"It's very reasonable. Everybody treats you like you're made of porcelain, and whatever you do that used to be tiresome, silly behavior now becomes 'elderly eccentricity of the dear old things.' It's wonderful, I'm having a ball. A ring road is called after me -- I live at 70 Anna Russell Way!"

Next May Miss Russell plans to put on a round of concerts in Ontario to raise money for Phase Three of the home: a little clinic with two wards, a dispensary, an operating theatre and round-the-clock nursing. "In Phase One, the old folks' home proper, you only have 40 percent care. So that's my present project, and I'm having a lot of fun with it."

"Some of the neighbors say, 'Fancy! She's an old folk, she shouldn't be stamping around like this.' But I say, 'Aha! but I'm in now. You can't stop me!'"

That nobody has been able to stop Anna Russell is the world's good fortune. A special bonus comes to Princeton in that her particular blithe spirit will animate McCarter Theatre for several weeks to come and on February 7 Miss Russell will again grace the McCarter stage with her one woman show.

AVANT-GARDE

New York to Princeton. A single day of avant-garde theatre sponsored by Theatre Intime will be held Saturday, October 2. A four-hour workshop and a one-woman performance will constitute the session.

ReCherchez Studio of New York will be in charge and one of the Studio's founders, Ruth Maleczek -- the other is Lee Bruer -- will conduct the workshop, which will focus on "Personalization of Character."

Actors are invited to participate regardless of their degrees of experience. The fee is $25. The workshop will be given from 10 a.m. until 2.

That evening, Beatrice Roth will present her own work, "Seventeen" at 8 p.m. and again at 9:30 in Murray Theatre on the Princeton University campus. Admission is $3, but workshop participants will be admitted free.

As described by The Village Voice, Ms. Roth's work shows the character "exiled within herself, a bottle of champagne and a pair of long fuchsia gloves for company...she knows how to orchestrate the dissonant symphony of her public self, and she does so with perfect clarity and skill. It's 'Sunset Boulevard' without the long, enameled claws."

POP, WITH MORK

Ruck, with Crenshaw. Robin Williams, that well-known visitor from outer space and "Mork and Mindy," will play Jadwin Gymnasium Saturday, October 13. McCarter Theatre, his sponsor, says Williams chose Princeton as his only engagement in the whole northeast. Well! He's on screens these days as Garp in "The World According to Garp."

Appearing with him will be singer-songwriter John Sebastian, one of the original "Lovin' Spoonfuls."

Saturday, October 23 in Alexander Hall, Marshall Crenshaw will be introduced to Princeton audiences. His song, "Cynical Girl," has been on the pop hit charts lately.

Stereo Review, reviewing his first album, wrote: "Let us not pussyfoot: this is the strongest debut album by an American rocker that I have ever been privileged to review."

Tickets for both concerts are on sale at McCarter.

show you how to set up your own haunted house — complete with spooky sounds and lights and creepy feelies — in a special workshop Wednesday, October 27 from 1 to 3 p.m.

If you're in kindergarten through second grade, Joan Robinson will welcome you to "Goblins and Witches," where you'll act out stories about goblins and witches — but not too scary. Make-up, costumes and sound-effects. It will be given Wednesday, October 20 from 1 to 2:30.

Workshops will be in CTU's studios at 33 Mercer Street.

Another mini-course, unrelated to Hallowe'en, will be given on three consecutive Wednesdays, November 3, 10 and 17 from 1 to 2:30. Designed for grades four through six, it will use a video camera to make and tape interviews and commercials.

Details on all from 924-3489.

'PIRATES'
In Trenton. The Mercer Musical Theatre Associates, directed by Richard Anzuini and Robert Parrish, will open its season with "The Pirates of Penzance," presenting the Gilbert and Sullivan work on Sunday, October 10 at 3 p.m. in Trenton's War Memorial auditorium.

Mr. Parrish will conduct the 25-piece orchestra that will accompany the singers, and Thomas Cardea is stage director. In the cast are Cigran Sheehan as Frederic, apprenticed to a pirate band by his childhood nurse, played by Nancy Jackson. The Pirate King will be Mark Kramer.

Susan Sarber will play the heroine, Mabel. Jeff Byrum has been cast as the Major General.

FOR CHILDREN....
Classes, in Trenton. Children in grades two through eight are invited to enroll in drama classes to be given by Artists Showcase Theatre, 1150 Indiana Avenue, Trenton. Carolyn Viola, who holds a degree in speech arts, music and drama, will supervise instruction.

Classes will explore music, movement and language through the medium of play. An original student production will be given at the end of each session.

All classes are held from 3:45 to 5:15, and will begin the week of September 27, running for eight weeks. Enrollment is $45. Information may be obtained from 466-0648 or 883-1775.

death, and that death is — perhaps — not final.

"Blithe Spirit" was included in "Best Plays of 1941-42," with the comment from editor Burns Mantle that it was "a happy incident of the war years which the theatre will not soon forget."

In McCarter's production, Anna Russell, the British comedienne, plays the part of Madame Arcati. Penelope Reed, Robert Lanchester, Paul Shenar, Marion Lines, Jane Moore and Christine Baranski, as the ghostly wife, are also in the cast.

William Woodman is directing. Susan Rheame and Dan Boylen, McCarter's resident designers for the season, have created an English country setting.

CURTAIN....
October 1, at McCarter. "Blithe Spirit," referred to as "Blithers" by its author, Noel Coward, will open the season for McCarter Theatre on Friday, October 1. Previews will be held during the preceding week.

Written in five days in the spring of 1941 when Coward was on leave from the British Navy, "Blithe Spirit" came at one of the worst moments of the war for the British. It not only provided entertainment, but gave the British a feeling that one could return from

MUSIC DIRECTOR NAMED
At Boy Choir School. The American Boy Choir School has announced the appointment of John Kuzma as its new Music Director.

A 1968 honors graduate of the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., Mr. Kuzma was the winner of a Fulbright grant for the following year to study at the University of Copenhagen in Denmark. Returning to this country in the fall of 1969, he pursued a master's degree at the University of Illinois studying under Harold Decker.

Mr. Kuzma began his professional career in San Diego, Calif. as music director of the St. Paul's Episcopal Church, a position which encompassed both boychoir and mixed choir directing. He also directed the St. Paul's Concert Series Chorus and Orchestra.

In 1975, Mr. Kuzma was appointed to the faculty of the University of California at Santa Barbara, where he served as university organist, carillonneur, and conductor as well as director of the University Singers. In 1976, Mr. Kuzma accepted an invitation to train and direct the Boychoir for Robert Schuller's Hour of Power weekly international telecast. Three years later, Mr. Kuzma founded the San Diego Chamber Orchestra, serving as chief promoter, fundraiser, manager, and conductor.

Under the auspices of the Recreation Department, the free lessons will be presented by experienced teachers and coordinated by Leo Arons, a teacher, performer and choreographer. Each hour-long session will be followed by recreational dancing featuring favorite dances from Yugoslavia, Greece, Israel and other countries. All levels will be included during the evening.

The Princeton Folk Dance Group meets Tuesday evenings at 7:30 at Riverside School. Formal registration is not necessary, but those interested in taking the full series of classes are asked to call 921-1462 or 924-7350. # Delaware Next Stop for Princeton Football Road Show; Spectators at Cornell Say It's Better Than 3-Ring Circus

So, Princeton football fans, you thought you had seen it all last season? Wrong! Picking up where they left off in 1981, the Tigers put on another performance guaranteed to produce cardiac arrest in even the most stout-hearted supporter.

Their topsy-turvy 41-36 triumph over Cornell at Ithaca last Saturday, while not quite as memorable as the defeat of Yale last November, nevertheless contained enough action and drama for two or three contests. With nine games remaining, one can only wonder what lies ahead. If the thrills are back, so is last year's scenario, which saw the offense often hard pressed to score more points than the defense allowed. The Big Red's 36 points is the most ever given up by a winning Princeton team.

But, if coach Frank Navarro is heaving a huge sigh of relief, think how Bob Blackman must feel. Cornell has never scored so many points before and lost.

Once again, the Orange and Black will live and die by the pass. Navarro firmly believes that successful running attacks capable of winning football teams are beyond the reach of Ivy teams. Saturday's statistics, like last year's, bear him out. Princeton had little success running straight ahead.

SPORTS In Princeton

Quarterback Brent Woods was the leading ground gainer with 47 of the 114 yard total. But, it was his passing that made the difference, 20 completions in 33 attempts for 287 yards and three touchdowns. He has already filled the big pair of shoes left by Bob Holly. "We expected he would be able to do the job," Navarro said after the game.

The job will become tougher later in the season, as opposing coaches rig their defenses accordingly. Cornell had no scouting reports or game films to go by, and a defensive secondary that bated down maybe six or seven passes in four quarters.

For now, having won their opener for the first time in three years, the Tigers are sharing first place in what promises to be a wide open Ivy League race. Penn pulled off a stunning upset, blanking Dartmouth at Hanover, 21-0, for its first win on the road since 1976. Brown quickly proved Yale is weaker this year, with a 28-21 victory at Providence. Harvard kept some form intact with a victory over Columbia at home.

Passing also played a big part in at least one of these games. Penn's Gary Vura was 23 for 32 and 254 yards, setting a Quaker record for completions in the process.

With an important road victory under its belt, Princeton's

OFFENSE: Most of last year's backfield returns intact.

DEFENSE: Also heavy with returning starters.

CHIEF ASSET: Rick Scully at quarterback, Rick Titus at halfback.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Taking Tigers too lightly after last year.

TYPE OF ATTACK: Winged T

A PLAY THAT MADE THE DIFFERENCE: With Cornell clinging to a two-point, 36-34, lead and trying to run out the clock, Princeton's Joe Warnement made one of the biggest defensive plays of the game. Coming from his safety spot, Warnement made a superb tackle on Derrick Harmon, nailing him for a half-yard loss on a first and 10 situation. Faced with long yardage thereafter, the Big Red eventually had to punt, giving The Tigers time to score the winning touchdown in the 41-36 victory.

chances have measurably improved, but one game doesn't make a champion. Last year's team was never so bad again in league play as its 32-13 rout by Dartmouth in the opening game. And this year's still has plenty of work ahead.

Delaware Next. It will be two weeks until Brown visits Palmer Stadium for the Tigers' first home game, before the Ivy race resumes. In the meantime, there is a diversionary trip to Delaware, for the second in a home-and-home series with the Blue Hens.

Delaware is 1-1 so far, having beaten Western Kentucky, 31-0, but losing to Temple, 21-0, last weekend. It views this game as a breather on the schedule, but, surprise, so does Princeton.

Given the constraints placed on Ivy League football, the Tigers just can not take this game as seriously as a league contest. If they did, they never would have recovered from last year's 61-8 debacle here, and beat Brown the following week in Providence.

Sure, the team will be on the field at the 1:30 kick-off time, but look for Navarro to rest his starters early, if the Tigers fall behind by plenty. The emphasis is on the Ivy games, where all things are at least presumed equal.

For the record, the Blue Hens have 18 of 22 starters returning from a team that finished 9-3 in 1981. Included among them are most of the boys who rolled up 663 yards on offense against Princeton: quarterback Rich Scully, and running backs Kevin Phelan and Rick Titus.

The Tigers should produce more on offense than they did a year ago, and overall the team shouldn't be as embarrassed as badly, but a comfortable win by the home team seems predictable.

Never Say Die. On a partly sunny, but sometimes windy afternoon in Ithaca, it was anybody's game through four quarters of play, with the lead changing hands six times. Neither team could hold on to its advantage for long in the first half, but with the wind at

A college football game a few years ago ended with the score of 1-0 ... How's that possible since there's no way in football to score just one point in a game? Tennessee State was leading Central State 17-0 in the second quarter when the Central State coach ordered his team off the field ... The coach was upset with some calls by the officials ... When Central State didn't return to the field, the officials declared Tennessee State the winner by a forfeit ... The official score for a forfeit in football is 1-0, and that's how the score of that game is now listed in the record books.

Bob Fitzsimmons, who held various boxing championships between 1891 and 1905, once fought a man named Ed Dunkhorst ... For this fight, Fitzsimmons weighed 165 pounds while Dunkhorst weighed 305--and Fitzsimmons beat him.

GUTHERIE ALL ALONE: The Tigers passing attack gave Cornell's secondary fits all afternoon, as quarterback Brent Woods found his receivers wide open again and again. Here Kevin Guthrie catches the ball on the way to the Tigers' fourth touchdown.

their backs in the third, the Tigers spurred ahead by 17 points, 34-17.

With just one quarter of play remaining, that should have been enough, but not in this era of Princeton football. It took the Big Red less than eight minutes to put 19 points on the board.

Quarterback Jeff Hammond combined his best passing of the day with the running of Derriek Harmon and Mark Miller to give the home team a 36-34 lead with 7:48 to play. Then, Woods, who had twice failed to move the Tigers at all between Cornell's touchdowns, began to find his receivers again.

Princeton moved from its 20 to the Cornell 27 in just two plays, one a pass interference call, and looked ready to score again. However, Woods' next toss, intended for Kevin Guthrie who had beaten a Cornell linebacker near the end zone, was underthrown into the stiff wind, and was intercepted.

The jubilant Big Red team seemed poised to be able to run out the remaining seven minutes on the clock, and did notch one first down. To its credit, the Tiger defense held, and forced a punt. Woods was back in business from his 20 with 4:30 left.

In short order he took the beleaguered Cornell secondary apart with passes to fullback Farris Curry, tight end Mike Lilley, tailback Ralph Ferraro, and Guthrie. From first and 10 on Cornell's 10, he then ran to the five. On second and five, Curry, behind the blocking of co-captain John Schultheis, scored the winning touchdown with 54 seconds left.

That left plenty of time for the losers to throw a final scare into the Tigers. Hammond brought his team to the Princeton 20, before being sacked by sophomore Mark Petruzzello and Jeff Urbany on the final play of the game.

Plenty of Mistakes. There were opening game mistakes on both sides, but Princeton's were more costly, keeping the home team in the ballgame until the end. Cornell took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter as Hammond scored his first of two on a six-yard run.

It took the Tigers just 13 seconds to tie it, the length of time Ferraro needed to run the kickoff back 96 yards. The 5-9, 175-lb junior ran up the middle, behind excellent blocking, cut to the left sideline, and outran the last Cornell defender who had a shot at him. Chris Montgomery last performed the feat for the Orange and Black against Brown in 1968. The 96 yards is a Princeton record.

Safety Joe Warnement intercepted a horrible pass by Hammond at midfield to pave the way for the Tigers' second score, a two-yard run by Roland Warren, early in the second. When Cornell was stopped on its next series, Princeton seemed ready to take command.

It wasn't to be. Eric Robinson tried to make a difficult catch on the ensuing punt and fumbled the ball inside his 10. Cornell recovered and needed just two plays to knot the score at 14 apiece.

Minutes later, the home team had forged ahead, after Woods was hit attempting to pass, and his wobbly aerial was intercepted at the Princeton 31. This time Cornell settled for a 30-yard field goal.

Just 3:42 remained in the half, but Woods needed only two minutes to regain the lead for Princeton. He found Guthrie open four times in a row, and then hit Curry for an 11-yard gain to bring the ball to the Cornell nine. Three plays later, Curry was wide open for a six-yard reception to put the Tigers up 20-17 at the half.

The Orange and Black opened the third with their fourth scoring drive, culminating with another pass to Curry from five yards out. When Woods hit Ferraro with a 33-yard scoring strike at the 11:30 mark of the third, it should have been over.

However, the Tigers graciously kept two of the later Cornell drives alive with foolish penalties, and repeatedly let the Big Red offense off the hook on third and long situations. A key sack of Hammond by sophomore Mark von Kreuter was wiped out by a defensive holding penalty.

Defense Needs Work. The defense needs some pulling together. It allowed Harmon 129 yards in 22 carries, not bad considering he is probably the best back in the league, but he might well have had more. A hip pointer injury kept him on the sidelines for close to a quarter of play. Hammond, who lacks consistency as a passer, completed 13 of 31 for 185 yards.

The offense, by contrast, appeared in mid-season form, scoring the most points in its opener since 1970 against Rutgers. Woods scoring drives were 80, 50, 67, 72 and 79 yards respectively. Guthrie had a fine afternoon with seven receptions for 96 yards. Ferraro had four for 71.

The Tigers main concern next weekend will be to stay free of injuries to key players. Co-captain Vic Ruterbusch suffered a mild knee sprain in the fourth quarter at Ithaca and will miss at least the Delaware game.

Naturally, Princeton will take victories anyway it can get them, but these last-minute fireworks may hurt attendance. One older Princeton alumnus was overheard remarking after the Cornell game, "I can't take much more of this."

PHS to Face 'Mystery Team' This Saturday, Very Little Known about Nottingham High

An enigma wrapped in a mystery. That's Nottingham High, the new school that has been formed by combining the overflow underclassmen from Steinert and Hamilton high Schools.

It is also the first opponent on the Princeton High School football schedule. The Princeton Little Tigers and the Nottingham North Stars will clash for the first time Saturday at 1:30 at the Steinert High School field. The game will be a Colonial Valley Conference league game, as Nottingham becomes the newest league member.

Cirullo reports that he knows very little about Nottingham -- other than Princeton is supposed to beat the North Stars because this is their first season and they have no seniors on their team.

Cirullo concedes that PHS will be picked by just about everyone to win. But "sure things" sometimes have a way of backfiring and Cirullo says, "I don't even want to think about it, if we should lose."

Cirullo, at least, has some background on which to base a prediction. His counterpart at Nottingham, Glenn Sliker has none. "There is no way I am going to make any predictions about this season," said Sliker, who was a quarterback at Hamilton High and later at Trenton State College where he became as assistant coach.

It's not easy, explained Sliker, to take kids who used to be natural rivals and blend them into a team. He has a reported 19 juniors and 20 sophomores on his varsity squad. "Depth isn't one of our strong points," says Sliker.

Sliker said in a pre-season interview that he plans to stress defense and will pattern his after the Oklahoma 52. "We'll go with an unbalanced look and match up with our opponents' strengths," he said.

"Marked Progress" And what about the Little Tigers, eager to improve on last year's 5-4 record? After even scrimmages with Delaware Valley and New Brunswick, Cirullo said that he felt his team had made "marked progress" following a scrimmage with Freehold, won 22-0 by PHS.

"I think Freehold was a big boost in the arm for us," said Cirullo. "They're big and well-coached. They have a good ball club but we actually controlled the scrimmage."

Saying his team still had to eliminate mistakes and penalties, Cirullo continued, "I think we have some good potential if we can fit all the pieces together and grow as a unit."

"I've just put them through a pretty serious pre-season. I think the boys are ready. They have a good attitude. They're a great group of kids and I think that's important. Hopefully, we'll have a few surprises for Nottingham."

Nini Lost for Season. Cirullo has had to survive a few of his own. On the third play of the first scrimmage, Albino Nini, the probable starting tailback for the Little Tigers, broke his foot and will be lost for the season. "He was a good, strong runner and that hurt," said Cirullo.

In addition, Carmelo Mauro, a starting guard and probable two-way player, decided not to come out this season. "That didn't help," observed Cirullo. "When you don't have 97 players, you like to keep the ones you've been playing with."

To fill the gap left by Nini, Cirullo has turned to junior Tom Haggerty. Although he reported that Haggerty is not yet "where he should be," Cirullo added that he is strong as an ox and has good potential.

Off pre-season play, Cirullo cited the performances of fullback Scott Gabrielsen, split end Ken McKellar, tight end Art Hoover and wingback Willie Whittaker.

Also a key man in any Little Tiger success this year -- quarterback Terry Phox. "Terry is starting to come around," said Cirullo. "He has the ability, he has the experience under his belt -- he's been a quarterback since he was a freshman." Cirullo added that Phox has been throwing the ball well in practice.

Outlook for PHS. The time to put the chalk board plays, the new wrinkles into action is at hand. What is the outlook for the Little Tigers this fall, especially in the CVC race?

For the moment at least, parity has come to the league. No coach is apt to go out on a limb and make any rash predictions. Cirullo is no exception. "I think the CVC is going to be a real tight race," he allowed

A glance at the schedule contains familiar teams: Ewing, which won the CVC title last year and defeated Somerville for the Central Jersey Group III state championship last year; Steinert, which returns after a number of years absence; Hightstown, West Windsor, McCortistown, Lawrence, Notre Dame ... all league foes ... and the finale with Trenton.

"I think we have a legitimate shot," Cirullo stated. "We'll have to play good football and we'll need a lot of support from arriving football players."

The key to any success on the gridiron this year will be, in Cirullo's opinion, how soon and how efficiently he can get his new players to play as a unit along side the returning veterans.

PHS will also need a little luck -- especially in avoiding injuries to key players, a malady which sent the team into a tailspin last year.

When he took over as coach last year, Cirullo had commented, "There's no substitute for hard work. I know I've got to put a lot of hard work into it and that's what I'm willing to do."

Nothing has changed to make him alter that belief. "I can't say how we'll finish," he said. It's hard to read the CVC. I just know that it's going to be tough."

TENNIS COURTS CLOSED

For Repair. The Princeton Recreation Department has announced that the six hard surface courts located at Community Park will be closed starting September 22 for repair and resurfacing for the 1983 season.

Workmen will repair cracks in the surface, insert a petromat overlay, and asphalt and re-surface with a new color coat system. The project will take at least six weeks to complete, closing the courts for the remainder of the season.

EVALUATIONS LISTED

For Platform Tennis Teams. The Princeton Recreation Department will hold evaluations for women's state "A" & "B" platform tennis teams on October 4th (A team) and October 7th (B team) from 9 to 12 noon at the Community Park courts.

Princeton residents and season ticket holders are invited to try-out for either team. State competition involves league play and practices one day a week. Those trying-out should be willing to comply to league schedules and to travel for away matches. For additional information, call the Recreation Office at 921-9480.

TIGERS TOP CORNELL

In Soccer. Favored by some to win the Ivy League soccer title this fall, the Princeton men's soccer team defeated Cornell, 2-1, last Friday night, in the opening league match for both teams.

Yuri Fishman scored on a throw-in from Nam Ki Hong with just 47 seconds left to play to seal the victory. Princeton took a 1-0 lead at the 22:08 mark on a goal by Renald Breton, assisted by Tom Poz. Cornell tied the game near the end. Princeton was outshot 18-7, but goalkeeper Tom Roberts made 12 saves to preserve the victory.

The Tigers will next play perennial power Hartwick this Saturday afternoon in Oneonta, N.Y. The next home game will be at 7:30 Friday, October 1 against Brown on Bedford Field.

CLASS OFFERED

Jr. Tournament Players. The Princeton Community Tennis Program will offer an advanced class this winter for tournament level juniors who have a MSTA-NJTA ranking, or play on their high school varsity team.

The 24-week program will be held Friday evenings from 5:30-7 at the Princeton Indoor Tennis Center, beginning October 1. Tryouts will be held September 30. Class size will be limited.

Coaching the class will be Larry Tabek, coordinator of special projects for the United States Tennis Association and a USPTA pro.

To sign up for a tryout and register for the class, visit the Tennis Office at 71 University Place. Additional information may be obtained by calling 924-4343.

PDS CAPTURES OPENER

Beating Newark, 21-8. The word is out about the Princeton Day football team.

Yes, it is young, and yes, it is small, but as it proved Friday with an opening 21-8 road victory over Newark Academy, it is also talented. This team has already won as many games as last year's, which finished 1-5-1.

The Panthers are well staffed with capable players at what coaches call "the skill positions," and these figured prominently in the victory.

Senior quarterback Erik Ott appears to have gained the confidence and poise so important to becoming a successful passer. He threw the ball just nine times, but completed five, good for 101 yards and two touchdowns.

Balancing his performance was the running of senior Reggie Reese at fullback and Peter Ross at halfback. Reese gained 92 yards in 15 carries, as the Blue and White rolled up 185 yards on the ground.

The PDS offense wasted no time making its mark in this contest, scoring on its very first series. Taking the opening kickoff, the Blue and White moved downfield with relative ease. With the ball on the home team's 31, Reese went all the way for a touchdown, only to have the play nullified by a penalty. The disappointment was only momentary, on the very next play Reese caught a screen pass from Ott and ran the ball into the end zone a second time.

The extra point was missed by Joe Pagano, and the Panthers led 6-0. The winners made their own serious mistake later in the quarter, when the snap from center sailed over Ott's head and was recovered by Newark on the PDS 20. It scored its only touchdown minutes later and added a two-point conversion for a brief 8-6 lead.

In the second quarter, PDS got rolling again, and incredibly had a second touchdown called back. This time a fine 35-yard run by Ross went for naught because of a block thrown below the knees by a PDS lineman. Still undaunted, PDS kept moving the ball, with Ross getting 16 of the 35 back on the next play.

The Panthers got the ball down to the 12, and from there Ott hit wingback Scott Roberts with pass in the end zone. Pagano's kick sailed through the uprights this time.

In the third period, Reese blocked a Newark punt, and the Blue and White started on the Newark 25. A few plays later, Ott scored on a quarterback sneak. Roberts added the two-point conversion with a run around end.

Coach Jim Walker was impressed with his initial offensive showing, and also had words of praise for nose guard Stewart von Oehsen who made 10 tackles. The first home game for the Panthers is set for 1:30 this Saturday against Friends Central. It is the Pennsylvania school's first game, and Walker has no information about it.

HUN DOWNS MORRISVILLE

In 34-27 Win. We put some points on the board. I didn't see anybody who expected us to win."

Hun football coach Bill Stout was right on both counts. The Raiders scored in every period to surprise the home team Morrisville Bulldogs, 34-27, Saturday in the opener for both teams. Hardly anyone gave Hun, winner of only two last year, much of a chance against the favored Morrisville eleven.

"I was pleased obviously," said Stout. "I knew it was going to be a donnybrook, but as far as a confidence builder, this has got to be good."

Stout said that he would wait a day before bringing his kids down from Cloud 9 to begin preparation for its next game. That is a Saturday meeting with Newark Academy, which lost its opener, 21-8, last week to Princeton Day School. The contest will be Hun's home opener and will start at 1:30.

Bigger and Better. "Football is back at Hun. We're bigger and better," exclaimed Hun quarterback Andrew Marlatt, who had a hand in all 34 of Hun's points.

the 6-3, 200-pound signal caller scored Hun's first three touchdowns on runs of 2, 2, and 1 yards and connected on scoring passes of 13 and 20 yards to Matt Wheaton and Martin Summers. He also passed for a pair of two-point conversions.

"I said at the start, the key to the season would be how well Marlatt, Summers and Wheaton perform," said Stout. Summers, a cornerback on defense, picked off two passes (Hun intercepted Morrisville quarterback Ray LaBelle four times) and caused a fumble. "He just played a typical Marty Summers type of game," added Stout.

2 Mistakes, 2 Touchdowns. After Hun had taken a 6-0 lead, Morrisville capitalized on two Hun mistakes when Hun fumbled the ball on its own 12 and Marlatt had one of his passes picked off for a 32-yard TD return. "We gave them two quick touchdowns," observed Stout.

Hun had regained the lead by the end of the first half, 22-13, when Marlatt capped two Hun drives. The Raiders continued to keep the home team off balance when senior Sean Couch ran the second half kickoff back 56 yards to the Bulldog 28, setting up Marlatt's TD pass to Wheaton.

Morrisville kept clawing back, however. Jim Gagen's four-yard scoring run brought the Bulldogs to 28-19 and after Sumners scored Hun's fifth TD on a 20-yard strike from Marlatt, the Bulldog's offset that with a 34-yard dash by Bruce Clark into the end zone off a reverse trap.

But Hun, which had stopped Morrisville on the two-yard line on the last play of the first half, stiffened again when Morrisville reached the Hun 20 and finally took over on downs with 1:26 left to go. "The kids showed me a lot of character," commented Stout, who described his offensive and defensive line as the best he's had in his three years at Hun as head coach.

It wasn't all pluses. "We had some defensive breakdown in the second half ... penalties we never could put them away," offered Stout. Still, he cited the defensive play of nose guard John Bolinger, Marlatt at linebacker and Sumners, who was a member of last year's All Prep School second team defensive squad. "One win doesn't a season make," remarked Stout, but even he would have to admit it would be hard to find a better start.

PHS GIRLS BLANKED
In Soccer Opener. Ed Beacham, making his debut as head coach of the Princeton High Girls soccer team, had a play to stop powerful Steinert in last week's opener. It was the same plan that all coaches have tried against the Spartans: stop Lisa Gmitter, the state's leading scorer. Like all such plans, it didn't work.

Gmitter, recovering from two broken ribs, scored five times in leading Steinert to an easy 9-0 victory. "If you concentrate on one girl, that's okay," observed Beacham, "if she's the only good player on the team, but at Steinert they're all good. Steinert just has too much quality; they're a fine, fine team."

Beacham feels his Little Tigers will be back in their class when they oppose rival Princeton Day School this Wednesday afternoon and Hopewell Valley Thursday at 3:45 at home in its first Colonial Valley Conference league game. Tuesday the team will be at West Windsor.

PHS played well in spurts, Beacham said. After Steinert jumped to a quick 3-0 lead after the first ten minutes of play, PHS held the home team in check for the rest of the first half. "Out of eight minutes, we played pretty well for the middle thirty," continued Beacham. "We just didn't have the skill they had and talent finally counted."

Beacham started three freshmen -- Hillary Jones, Boobie Lockwood and Fiona Little -- and predicted they and the Little Tigers will get better as the season progresses. As for the opener, it was an experience for them, Beacham said, to watch a well-groomed team play.

PHS WINS 5-0
In Girls Tennis Opener. In blanking Steinert, 5-0, in its tennis opener Friday, the Princeton High School girls tennis team did not allow the Spartans to capture a single

"I'm pleased with the results, obviously," said PHS coach Bill Humes. "It was a nice way to start. They all played well." Humes reported that he took 15 players to Steinert and, counting jayvee matches, all 15 got to play. All 15 won.

Games will come faster this week for the Little Tigers than a Jimmy Connors return of service. This Wednesday the Blue and White will be at Hamilton. Thursday at Hopewell Valley in its first league game. Friday at newcomer Nottingham High School and on Tuesday it will entertain West Windsor at 3:30 in its second league outing.

Against Steinert, junior Heather McVicker won her number one singles match, 6-3, 6-4. Seniors Rosemary Chowins and Jenny Pickens followed with straight set victories. Chowins winning 6-2, 6-0, and Pickens 6-0, 6-0.

The number one doubles of sophomore Eleanor Gorman and senior Karen Lytle triumphed 6-0, 6-2, while the number two tandem of junior Mia Cahill and sophomore Debbie Rosenfield dropped only one set en route to a 6-1, 6-0 win.

BIG ONE THURSDAY
PHS Vs. HV in Field Hockey. Forget that Princeton High looked impressive in blanking Steinert, 3-0, in last week's field hockey opener.

Forget that the Little Tigers were scheduled to tangle with Brunswick on Tuesday. The game that PHS and coach Joyce Jones has to be pointing to is Thursday's home contest against Hopewell Valley, the defending Colonial Valley Conference league champion.

The visiting Bulldogs are coming off a spectacular 21-1 season last year. They defeated PHS twice last year in regular season competition and again in state tournament play. They own a streak of 18 consecutive league wins.

Hopewell blanked Florence 1-0 in its opener this season and although the Bulldogs lost eight players from last year's fine team, they are considered the team to beat again this year. PHS would like to change that. "It should be an exciting game," agreed Jones. Starting time is 3:45.

Following Hopewell, the Little Tigers will play Peddie for the first time ever on Friday in Hightstown and on Tuesday they will be at West Windsor.

For the opener against Steinert, "the girls were nervous," recalled Jones. "It was their first game." Moreover, Jones felt that the visiting Spartans were a good team. "One of the best I've seen. They had a lot of experienced players back."

"It took us time to find the goal but once we did, we were fine," said Jones. Lisa Blair scored the game's first goal with a few minutes left in the first half, on an assist by Pam Jennings.

Harper Hoff, then added two second-half goals for PHS to make it a 3-0 final. Freshman goalie Caylin Tobin had nine saves.

"She showed a lot of potential," remarked Jones of Tobin. "I know she's going to make some mistakes but I'm very proud of her to open up with a shutout."

Jones also cited the defensive play of Sue Hendrickson and Jennings. "It felt good to start with a win," she said. "I'm looking forward to our first league game with Hopewell."

NEW ASSISTANT NAMED
For Pete Carril. Bill Carmody, formerly assistant basketball coach at Providence College, has been named assistant basketball coach at Princeton University.

Carmody, 30, officially takes over the position held for the last two years by Ed Reilly, who recently resigned to accept an assistant coaching post at Holy Cross College. Reilly is a 1976 graduate of the Worcester, Mass., college.

As Pete Carril's newest assistant, Carmody will coach the junior varsity team and he involved with recruiting and scouting. Carril will have two new assistants this fall. Earlier Wayne Szoke was hired as an assistant coach after Tony Relvas left last May to become head coach at Colgate University. Szoke will be involved with practice sessions and game plans as well as recruiting and scouting.

Carmody was a part-time assistant during the 1980-81 season at Providence under former Princeton basketball star Gary Walters. Carmody also played under Walters as a play-making guard at Union College in Schenectady, N.Y.

Community Players

but the public library, the Lions Club, the Princeton Summer Playground Fund, the Girl Scouts Camp Fund and scholarships at Princeton High School and Princeton University, were beneficiaries of Players' productions.

When war came, Polish, Russian and British war relief were all helped from the proceeds of Community Players' productions.

During and after the war, membership in the Players broadened. Emily (Cissy) Stuart, another long-time Players player, doesn't remember that anyone was ever turned down for membership.

"Maybe it was more exclusive, in the beginning," she says. "But don't forget, that was the Depression and a lot of people had other things on their minds."

"In my experience, anybody who wanted to try out, came and tried out. Auditions were always completely open."

She chuckles at the memory of Peter Cook, president of PCP at the time, who approached her — quite unethically, in her view — to say he wanted to do "Pygmalion" but would only do so if she played Liza Doolittle.

"Well, we had try-outs, and this Kate Bramwell tried out, and she was marvellous! Well, I just let Peter stew in his own juice for a time, but finally I said, 'Peter, you know it as well as I do — there's your Liza' and he was so relieved!"

Remembering the successful program of a dozen years before, the Players did another one in 1948 for the original musical, "Along the Road." P. MacKay Sturges, later mayor of the Borough, wrote the music and A. Munroe Wade, whom many Princeton residents remembered for his appearances in Triangle Club shows, wrote the lyrics.

Over 2,000 people saw that show, in its two performances at McCarter. Success was so heady that the Players did it again — "Sailing On," in '49. And again — "The Magic Well" in '52.

Again, in the "Along the Road" program, Princetonians showed themselves as customers and owners in page after page of photographs. One, for Princeton Fuel Oil has a little boy in the front row. He is John S. Hoff III, now president of the First National Bank, shown with his father and grand-father who owned the fuel oil business.

A competitor, Joseph W. Miller's Sons, was selling "Blue Coal" and Motor Stokor from telephone number 523.

Toto's Market showed almost all the Toto family. The store is where it was then, but the address has changed. In 1948, it was "Witherspoon and Jackson."

Brook Motors advertised itself as "direct dealers for the Austin Motor Car Company of England," as well as for Willys cars, station wagons and jeeps.

Community Players served, in many ways, as a seed bed for the kind of theatre projects that were to come. Moyné Smith, for example, had a children's group with 65 children and 100 on the waiting list.

Children made up their own plays, acted in ones already written, and often appeared in the annual spring production for children — "Mary Poppins," "The Magic Apple," "Many Moons," "Hans Brinker," "Toby Tyler."

Mrs. Stuart laughs at the memory of children rushing her on the street with a hug and a shout, "You're MARY POPPINS!" She also remembers how valuable it was to work with Mrs. Smith, who rehearsed adults and children in plays like "Mary Poppins" from February until the late spring production, so that everyone knew every line.

"We could only rehearse in pieces, in a room at Avalon," she explains, "and we had only a few days in McCarter itself, so a long rehearsal was marvellous."

As the area grew, after the war, theatre groups formed in Pennington, Middlebush, New Brunswick, Trenton. PCP today has only 100 or so members, compared to the 300 it had in its early years, but geography has taken away the ones who used to come from nearby towns.

The last play given in McCarter was "The Beggar's Opera," in 1953. Mrs. Stuart still remembers how Henry Ross sat in the audience, convulsed with laughter as he watched the proper Princeton matrons he knew, throwing themselves about the stage as 18th-century whores.

"Remember those Noel Coward plays we all thought were so naughty, like 'Design for Living' where one woman was living with two men!" and Mrs. Stuart laughs.

Mostly, today, Community Players gives contemporary works. In the beginning, there was a great deal of Shaw. Mr. McAneny has counted seven Shaw plays. And "The Admirable Crichton," given that first season, and "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," given two years later....

...and "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" given last spring.

It's impossible to single out devotion and devoted people, but Mr. McAneny says "every now and then, you find a jewel." Such a jewel, he says, is Curt Hall, with the Players for 11 years, designing and building scenery, doing the lighting, cleaning up after the work parties.

"I mention him," Mr. McAneny says, "because he's typical of what's good about backstage. And of course John Schenck, who's done ingenious sets that can work for the whole season of plays, and there are others...."

Clearly enough for another golden 50.

—Katharine H. Bretnall
